

Printing Inkjet CD/DVD's

Only Epson inkjet printers support this functionality

HP markets their "Lightscribe" process

All Epson Inkjets do normal printing. The CD/DVD printing is an extra feature

Epson has the Artisan 50 for $99, and the Artisan 710 (wireless all in one) for $129. Other higher priced models are available

Must use either White or Silver printable CD/DVD's

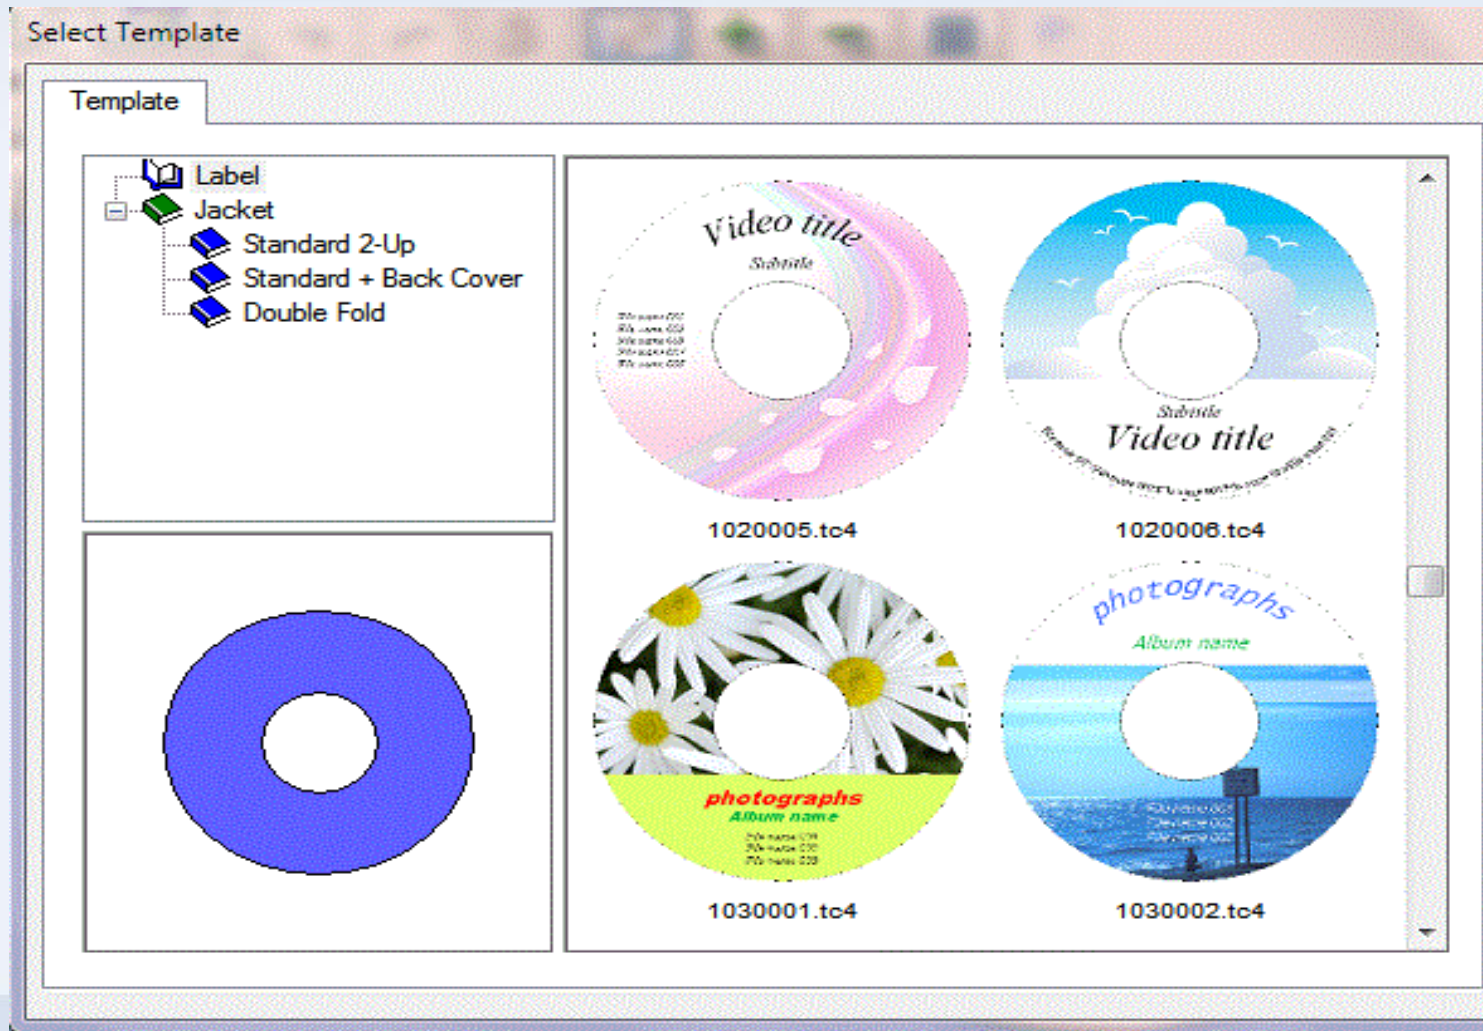

Software for Printing CD/DVD's

- Epson has free download of "Print CD"
- It allows you to design the label however you please
- You can use predesigned templates or create your own template
- It's easy to place your own photos on the CD/DVD

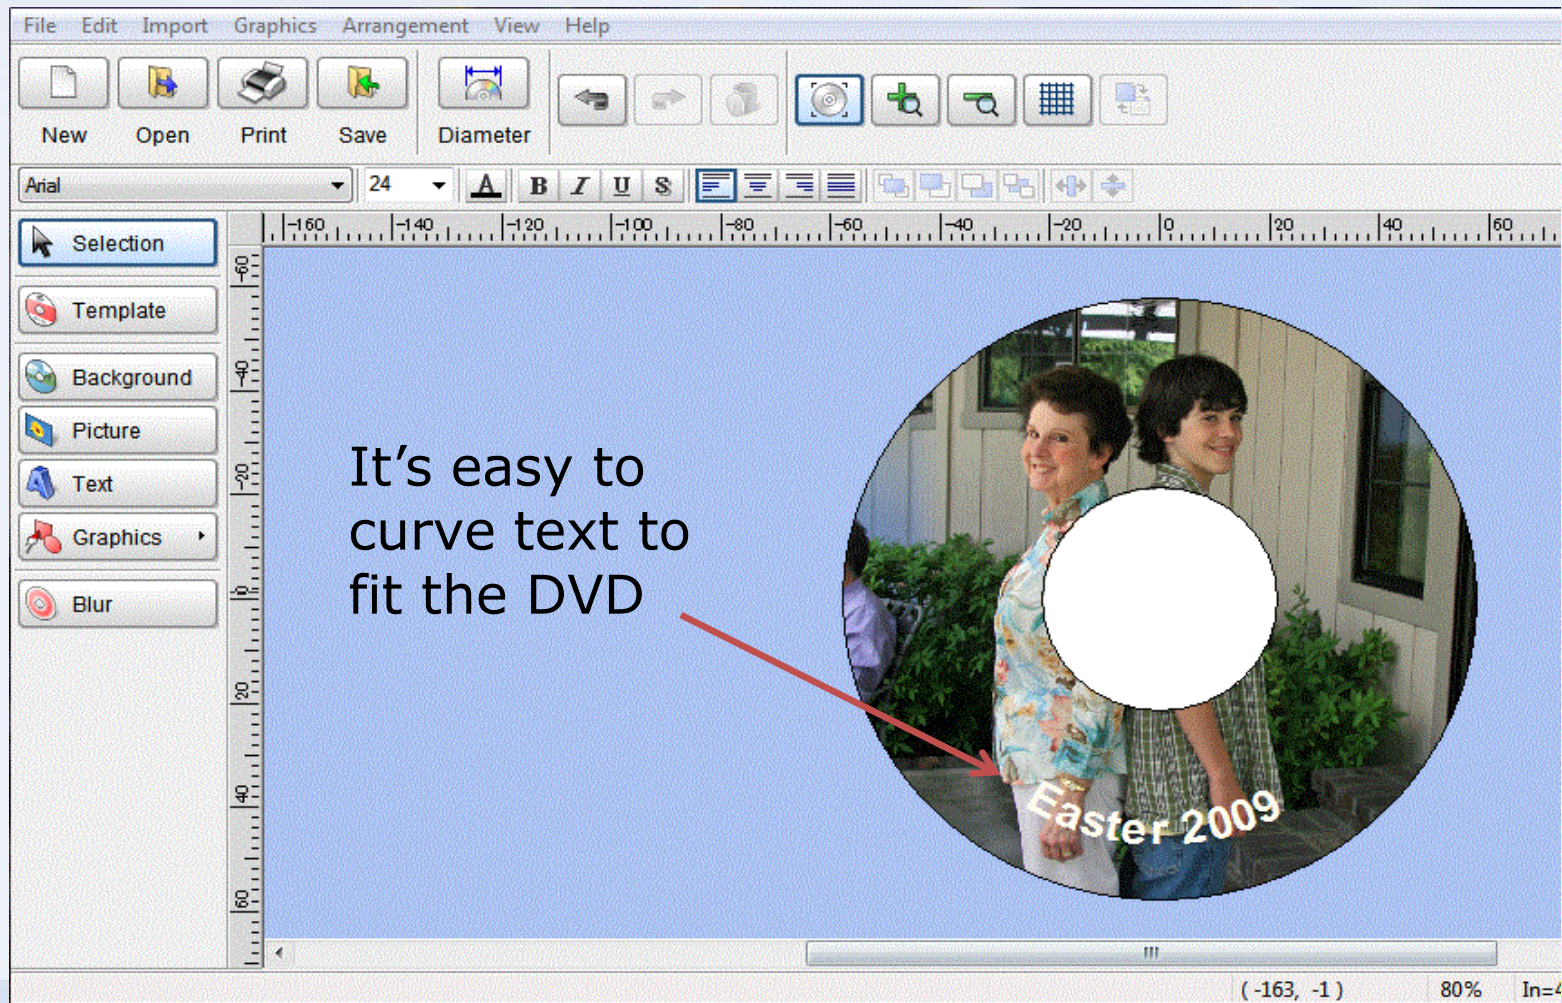

Print CD Program Starts with a Blank DVD

There are Many Pre-Designed Backgrounds

Add Photos, Text, or Other Graphics

Final Comments

- Creating labels is easy and fun
- Printable DVD's are a little more expensive but not much
- You need to let the ink dry a few hours
- Since Optical Readers spin a DVD, frequent usage may cause some scratches on the ink
- Paper labels are also easy but may not work in some DVD players
